

U. S. ARMIES POUND TOWARD RHINELAND

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE FIERCENESS of the fighting over the water-logged terrain of the northern battle-front opposite the Rhineland lends particular point to Secretary of War-Stimson's blunt and unadorned statement that Supreme Commander Eisenhower had to delay his general offensive until enough artillery ammunition accumulated.

The developing battle of the Cologne plain is a grim business. It bids far to be one of the toughest, most sanguinary engagements of the war—for it's the final phase of Armageddon. The expenditure of life and material on both sides will be great.

Heavy artillery plays an important role in this bloody crisis. The big fellows, as the secretary points out, are used not only to destroy the enemy but to smash his fortifications. If these enemy strongholds weren't reduced by high explosives they would have to be stormed by the infantry at a terrible cost in life.

So the giant guns are one of the greatest safeguards of the lives of our boys. That's why, as Col. Stimson says, "we insist on an overwhelming artillery power for the support of our infantry, not merely to gain success in battle but more particularly to hold down the number of casualties."

Well now, the specific reason for Gen. Ike's need of heavy ammunition lies in the much debated Siegfried line. Don't let anybody tell you that this string of strongholds, running from 10 to 30 miles in depth, isn't one of the most formidable defenses ever created. It's a veritable labyrinth of death. This is the German outer crust, which the Allies have to crack in order to get at the heart of the Reich.

The Siegfried line is a terrible but ingenious trap. There is, of course, no solid line of fortifications but the defenses are staggered, like the trees of a dense forest. The Nazi heavy artillery is as thoroughly concealed as possible and strongly shielded with concrete. Between batteries is a field of concrete redoubts armed with light cannon and machineguns which can sweep a wide arc of ground in front of them.

It doesn't take much imagination to see what happens if you send infantry in against such a combination in an effort to take a strong point by storm. Gen. Eisenhower turned thumbs down on any attempt to break this line with troops before the defenses had been reduced by his big guns. He wasn't going to sacrifice his boys in any such manner—and the Allied public will thank him from the bottom of their hearts for this.

His decision meant a vast step—

'Whodunnit' Mystery Is Dorsey Case

No One Seems To Know Who Smashed Nose of Actor Jon Hall

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—Somebody almost whacked off the end of Screen Actor Jon Hall's nose but the question still before the jury trying the Tommy Dorsey and Allen Smiley for felonious assault is one of those "whodunnit" mysteries.

Hall doesn't know. He doesn't know whether somebody at that now famous Aug. 5 party in the bandleader's apartment used a knife, a beer bottle, or what.

Jon's nose is encased in purple cellulose guarding the handwork of a plastic surgeon who found it necessary to reshape the proboscis.

Hall was a valuable witness but he was check-reined on direct examination yesterday and confined to "yes" and "no" answers. On cross examination Smiley's lawyer, the veteran Jerry Geisler, would read a portion of Hall's grand jury testimony, point out portions which he said were in conflict with what the actor had told the trial jury, and ask which version was true.

"My testimony to the grand jury was true to the best of my knowledge and belief," the broad-shouldered and be-spectacled movie hero would answer.

"But you don't know who used a knife on you or whether a knife was used?" asked Geisler.

"No."

Had Headlock On Dorsey

"You said you may have been cut with a bottle, but you don't recall seeing anyone with a knife or a bottle in his hand?"

"No."

Hall said he received a "heavy blow" between his eyes and as a result had difficulty tying his shoelaces. He didn't know whether that blow was sustained after Mrs. Dorsey summoned Tommy's next-door neighbor, Smiley, to help stop the fight, he testified.

CHINA PLANT STRIKE HERE HAS 400 IDLE

Union Workers Walk Out Upon Failure To Receive Vacation Pay

Salem's second war-time strike took place this morning as some 400 Salem China Co. employees, members of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters Local No. 42, failed to report for work.

Only repair and maintenance crews and supervisory employees were on duty at the plant.

The unauthorized strike was called by union officials following the failure of conferences here yesterday between management and union officials when employees demanded immediate payment of 1943 vacation checks, granted them by a War Labor Board ruling early in October, according to Floyd L. McKee, president of the company.

The War Labor board decision in question granted payment of vacation checks to potters throughout the nation for 1943 but did not stipulate the exact date for the payment. The ruling simply stated that payment should be made on a date decided upon by the workers and management, but added that it must be paid by Dec. 31, 1944.

Delay Was Asked

The management of the Salem China Co. asked permission to make the payment immediately as requested by employees, but officials of the United States Pottery Association asked that the checks be held up until payment was made throughout the other district potteries. The Salem China did not wish to go against the wishes of the national organization and decided to withhold the vacation pay, McKee explained.

Judication of the "wildcat" strike here is awaiting the return of James M. Duffy of East Liverpool, president of the N.B.O.P., who has been in New Orleans attending the convention of the American Federation of Labor. Duffy has left New Orleans and is expected back within the next few days.

The conferences here yesterday were attended by Salem China Co. officials, Secretary W. M. Betz of East Liverpool, U.S.P.A. official, and local union officials.

P. K. Laughlin, president of the N.B.O.P. local, was not available for comment today.

The date in dispute was scheduled for consideration at a meeting of brotherhood and manufacturer officials in East Liverpool Dec. 12. Wage contract negotiations for the next two years also are to be settled at that session.

Although unofficial spokesmen here expected the strike to spread to Sebring and East Liverpool and other neighboring pottery centers, repercussions were reported today. The pottery industry is engaged in the manufacture of domestic dinnerware.

MERCURY TUMBLES TO 20 AS SEVERE COLD WAVE HITS

The first severe cold wave of the season, pushed along by brisk winds, spread temperature in the low 20's across Ohio today—and there's more to come.

Salem recorded a low of 20 degrees early in the morning before the snowfall began a climb to 23 above at 6 a. m. and had risen three more degrees by noon. Snow flurries, though not heavy, were the most prolific of the season.

The Columbus weather bureau reported cloudy skies that have been spitting snow intermittently since yesterday would clear and the mercury drop still more tonight, with continued cold tomorrow.

The snowfall ranged from just a trace to two inches in the Cleveland area.

The state highway department today reported roads icy in spots in the area south and west of Bellefontaine, Wapakoneta and Wilmington and in the vicinity of Newark, Zanesville, Lisbon, Carrollton, Steubenville, Cadiz, St. Clairsville, Athens and Gallipolis.

Roads throughout other parts of the state were reported normal.

Temperatures for the most part yesterday were in the twenties but Springfield had a low mark of 16, Toledo had a minimum of 23 but that city had a new record as November ended without a single clear day.

There was a sharp drop last night and in Columbus another flurry of snow left streets slippery and hazardous for traffic.

$305,000 Salem Airport One Of Three County Projects Recommended By CAA

Salem, East Liverpool and East Palestine in Columbiana county and Alliance in neighboring Stark county are included in a billion-dollar post-war program of airport construction and improvement, including $31,161,000 for such work in Ohio, which was recommended to Congress today by the Civil Aeronautics administration.

The CAA proposes building 3,050 new airports and improving 1,625 existing fields — including clearing, grading, paving, lighting and radio facilities.

Branches of the undertaking by the federal and state governments in a matching funds basis over a period of five to 10 years is proposed.

5 Classes of Fields

The program involves five classes of airports, as follows: Class 1, designed primarily for private flying; class 2, suitable for feeder airlines and private flying; class 3, suitable for present-day twin-engine planes; class 4, suitable for four-engine and other large planes and class 5, designed for long-range domestic and foreign operations.

AIRLINER CRASHES IN FOG; 9 KILLED

Many of 23 Passengers Reported Injured In California Mishap

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—A Transcontinental and Western Airlines passenger plane, with 23 aboard, crashed in a heavy fog in the nearby San Fernando valley early today as it was nearing its destination at Burbank enroute from San Francisco. Police reported at least nine were killed.

TWA officials said the Army had taken over at the scene of the crash and Army officials told them seven military personnel were dead and nine alive. The number of civilians aboard the plane was not immediately determined.

Twenty passengers and three crew members were on the plane including Mayor Harley Knox of San Diego who was injured. Knox said City Manager Walter Cooper of San Diego also was on the plane. Police said Cooper was unaccounted for and possibly was one of the dead.

TWA officials said two crew members were killed. They were Capt. J. P. Snowden, Burbank, Calif., and First Officer T. L. Bamberger, Alameda, Calif. The plane's hostess, Donna Marr of Burbank, was taken to a hospital with a leg fracture and other injuries.

STETTINIUS TAKES OVER HULL'S POST

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., takes over as secretary of state today, backed by an overwhelming senate vote of confidence.

The handsome, white-haired undersecretary who steps into Cordell Hull's shoes for what looks the toughest cabinet job of President Roosevelt's fourth term, now has only to take the oath of office formally.

As one of his first acts he is expected to recommend to the President the name of a new undersecretary—a topic reportedly discussed when he conferred with Hull, his sailing predecessor, at the Bethesda, Md., Naval hospital yesterday.

Stettinius goes into office with a non-partisan endorsement by the senate, which yesterday heard charges from Sen. Langer (R-ND) that the 44-year old former chairman of the board of United States Steel was "a representative of Wall Street and the house of Morgan."

After Langer had talked 2 1/2 hours, the senate voted 68 to 1 to confirm Stettinius as the No. 2 man in the executive branch.

The best Christmas present in the world reached Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wickline of R. D. 3, yesterday in a letter, the first word in 14 months from their missing son, Staff Sgt. Albert John Wickline, 29.

Sgt. Wickline was reported missing in action over Germany Oct. 14, 1943, and his parents have heard nothing from him or about him until yesterday. His letter said his B-17 Flying Fortress was shot down over Germany and he bailed out in the Alsace-Lorraine region. "I'm all right and expecting to be back in England and then home soon," the airman wrote, adding that he is in the 96th General hospital.

A graduate of Salem High school in 1942, he entered the service in October, 1942 and went overseas in August, 1943. He served as a tail gunner on the Fort.

Theater Building Burns Down At Covington, Ky.

COVINGTON, Ky., Dec. 1.—Fire believed to have started from a cigarette destroyed the Madison Theater building in downtown Covington early today, with loss estimated by the operators at $150,000.

Covington's eighth fire companies battled the blaze through sub-freezing temperatures.

The fire apparently had been burning several hours before its discovery about 3:30 a. m., because the roof of the three-story building collapsed only a short time after firemen arrived.

Form Assault Lines Along Roer and Saar

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, Dec. 1.—Three American armies beat out hard-won gains across churned battlefields today and drew up solid assault lines along both the Roer and Saar, two of the most important barriers to the Rhine.

Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth army captured Weiz, one mile south of Linnich, and drew a close around that town on the road to the Rhineland city of Munchen Gladbach as virtually the entire army closed up to the Roer and its tributary, the Inde, on a 15 to 20-mile front. Patrols stabbed across the narrow, but flood-swollen Inde.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army pressed against the west bank of the Saar and the Siegfried line almost solidly along a front of 12 to 15 miles.

Patton's tanks reached the Spaar bend opposite Merzig, after clearing Hilbringen and Batten.

The Third army was drawn up close to Merzig on the northwest, west and southwest and looking into the mouths of the Siegfried canon. The Siegfried line, with its forts, pillboxes and miles of wire and traps, comes down to the river here, and beyond is the Hunsruck range running northeast between the Moselle and Nahe valleys toward the Rhine and main cities of Wiesbaden, Mainz and Frankfurt.

The Germans were pouring their final strength into the desperate struggle for a winter line west of the Rhine and were losing 3,000 men a day in prisoners alone. In dead and disabled Hitler was sacrificing more than that.

86 PLANES ON RAID MISSING

Losses to Ack-Ack Fire Over Germany Includes 56 Bombers

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Dec. 1.—Great waves of RAF bombers raided Germany during the night, sustaining the record-breaking Allied November air offensive that yesterday cost the U. S. Air Force it worst loss in heavy bombers since April—56 four-engine craft downed by ack-ack.

Thirty U. S. fighters also failed to return to their British bases after all-day pulverizing attacks by 3,000 planes on synthetic oil plants in the Leipzig area and railways in the Saarbrücken sector. The Tactical Air Forces supporting ground troops lost three medium bombers and one fighter.

Last night more than 500 Halifaxes and Lancasters dropped 3,000 tons of fire bombs and explosives on the Rhine-Ruhr city of Duisburg, and two-ton blockbusters on Hamburg. Four of the raiders were lost.

Not since 63 U. S. bombers went down over Berlin in April have Allied planes encountered such concentrated defense fire as they did yesterday.

Tempering the heavy losses reported by an Eighth Air Force communiqué was the belief that most fighter pilots grounded in friendly territory.

The German air force declined to come up in strength to oppose the massive formations of Fortresses and Liberators. Four enemy interceptors were shot down.

Fortresses struck at Bohlen, Zeitz, Merseburg and Lutzendorf near Leipzig, roaring over the targets at 25,000 to 30,000 feet with a full escort of fighters. Results here were described as "very favorable."

The blows topped a 36-hour continuous aerial offensive which left the reich erupting from an average of 10 tons of bombs a minute from the 11,900 planes flying seven major missions in that period and some 4,000 sorties in support of the ground armies.

Plan Three Shows On Monday for Employees Of Mullins Mfg. Corp.

Mullins Mfg. Corp. employees will be entertained Monday at three special performances of the company's employee Christmas show in the Salem High school auditorium.

Featuring an all-star stage and screen cast—the same slated to perform at the Youngstown "Allas Santa Claus" show Saturday—the productions here will be held at 11:30 a. m. and 8:30 p. m., for all Mullins employees and their families.

Free of charge, the production is presented as the second annual feature arranged by the company for employees' Christmas entertainment.

The staggered performance times are so arranged that all employees, regardless of their working hours, will be able to see a show.

An acrobatic troop, dancers, a magician, a one-man band, singers and comedians are included in the program. Heading the cast and acting as master of ceremonies is Andy Rice, Jr., son of the well-known movie star and a comedian in his own right.

Two featured stars of the show are Caryl Gould, a member of Rudy Valle's show for over three years, and Peter Higgins, popular Irish tenor.

A. F. Kingley was program chairman. A board of directors meeting was announced for 8 p. m. Tuesday at the home of President A. P. Morris, Ridgewood dr.

Edward Corcoran is the present district executive, to be succeeded in January by Dr. George Jones of Salem.

AKRON FIRM LOW BIDDER ON WATER RESERVOIR WORK

Low among five competitive bidders on the pipeline and grading work connected with Salem's proposed 3,000,000-gallon water reservoir was the Schulo Construction Co. of Akron with an offer of $64,053.27.

Bids, opened yesterday, ranged from the low figure to one of $71,000 filed by a Pennsylvania concern.

Although action by the board of control has not been made on the bids, it was practically certain today that the low bid would be accepted, officials said. There were no technicalities nor disputable points in the Schulo bid and its approval is expected to be automatic. The board will meet today or tomorrow.

The contract to be awarded calls for laying nearly 10,000 feet of 16-inch water pipe from the tie-in main in the factory district to the site of the new reservoir, about two miles southwest of the Newgardens at city limits. Grading and drainage work on the reservoir site itself is also included in the bid.

The Schulo Construction Co. is the same concern which laid the large main system now in use in the factory section of town. That job was completed nearly 25 years ago, according to City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff.

Ammunition First

In an indirect way, war workers are entitled to be proud of the official assumption that they can overcome the ammunition shortage handicapping the Allied offensive in Europe.

But there is more involved in Gen. Eisenhower's warnings about a shortage than the enthusiasm of war workers for what they are doing. The supreme commander of the European theater has made an appeal to war workers in general which normally would be expected to go through confidential channels; material shortages are not usually the subject matter of public statements.

While the first order of business is to give Eisenhower more ammunition, somewhere along the line there is room for explanation of an unusual procedure for getting it. The shortages complained of—and which war workers are to be told about first—hand by a group of 27 enlisted men brought home from western Europe for that purpose—did not suddenly develop after the national election. They arose as the result of the estimates on supply, and it is in no sense the fault of war workers in or out of ammunition plants if some of those plants were closed down and others ordered to curtail production. The net effect of the handling of the situation has been to shift a little too smoothly to the morale and enthusiasm of war workers' responsibility for an effect which was accomplished wholly by executive determination. It would be easier to feel comfortable about the whole thing if those at the top who made the bad guesses were to acknowledge their mistake at the same time that they are appealing to war workers to overcome the consequences.

More Than Water Power

President Roosevelt's renewed advocacy of a Missouri Valley Authority, on the pattern of the now famous government corporation operating in the Tennessee river valley, is a sign of the times.

Vastly more than water power is at stake, as is being made clear in senate discussion on pending post-war flood control legislation. Administration supporters hope to make flood control legislation the vehicle for a Missouri valley project which would be concerned not only with flood control and water power, but also with federal power to develop a series of gigantic public projects. Proponents of the St. Lawrence waterway and water power project are eyeing new horizons. Even the Ohio river valley is being mentioned as a possibility for public development. Now is the time, it seems, for every bloc with a neglected valley to speak or forever hold its peace.

In the senate debate, there has been discussion not only of the issue lying between flood control and water power, but of the issue of disposing of electricity generated by development of water power. Obviously, if water power projects developed at public expense are to provide electricity which thereafter is to be distributed by public authority, the principle of private enterprise is directly involved. On the other hand, if the power generated by public projects is to be made available to private enterprise on equitable terms, the terms of a reasonable compromise have been maintained.

The country has had long experience with state, sectional and regional pressures. It now becomes a certainty that in the years immediately ahead a new minority interest group is destined to emerge—the valley bloc.

Mr. Ickes Is Dead Right

In a recent public statement, the secretary of the interior, Mr. Ickes, professed to be upset because the opposition is still the opposition.

He speaks for a surprisingly large number of Americans so forgetful of their tradition that they actually believe defeat in a national election settles all issues according to the dictates of the winning side. Such persons have wandered dangerously far into totalitarianism.

Mr. Ickes is dead right that the opposition is still the opposition. The present political danger in America is not that, but the possibility that the opposition may be driven by dictates of political expediency to abandon its separate identity.

While there is no intrinsic merit in irreconcilability, or in opposition for opposition's sake, neither is there any merit in wishy-washiness. The two-party system in the United States has worked reasonably well for a century and a half because it gave voters a choice, not because it played political Humpty-Dumpty. The worst conceivable thing that could happen under present circumstances, i. e., the fourth consecutive term for Mr. Roosevelt as the leader of an amorphous coalition of diverse elements, would be for the Republicans to yield to the cunning persuasion of manipulators who cry "Unity, unity," when there is no unity.

The Republicans may lose in the congressional elections of 1946. They may lose the national election in 1948. They will certainly do so—and deservedly—if they abandon in any degree the proper function of an opposition party, which is to give voters a choice when making political decisions.

Lady Astors Distinction

The same distinction which makes Communism an issue in the United States has been turned by Britain's Lady Astor into one of her famous quips. Acknowledging that Russian Communism has revolutionized the European policy of "keeping the people poor and ignorant," she insists, nevertheless that she "wouldn't be caught dead with a British Communist."

In this country, too, antipathy for Communism has its source almost wholly in resentment of foreign influence exercised through nominally native spokesmen. No one denies that an Earl Browder has the right as a native American to believe what he pleases, but when an Earl Browder is subject to suspicion as the agent of a foreign organization, he foregoes his native prerogatives. It is noteworthy that this very thing was covered specifically in the renewal of American relations with Soviet Russia and more recently was recognized by Russians, themselves, when they dissolved the Comintern.

In the better world to come, it may not be too much to hope that Soviet Russia may show an increasing interest in representative democracy, but only in some form of unquestionably native origin. The Russians, being more realistic about politics than some of their neighbors, would be quick to resent intrusion of outside influences—and quicker yet to act on their resentment.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, December 2.

THERE ARE signs of a perplexing state of affairs, with obstacles and impediments difficult to handle unless a peculiar degree of pressure be drawn on by actual measures and yielding where possible while still maintaining sound principles and the sense of obligation to duty, codes and responsibilities. A surprise change or radical rearrangement of programs may avert fraud, craftiness, betrayal or other illusive and subtle entanglements. Such sagacity may attract support from those in power, either in public or private bodies. With this may develop happier domestic or social relations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of opportunity to exhibit their ingenuity, cleverness and originality when engulfed in a tight place. Be alert to treachery and pursue surprise measures, with compromise or flexibility if possible but without employing expediency or sacrificing any tenets of duty or obligation. This show of genius and integrity should enhance public prestige while also restoring personal, domestic, social or romantic popularity and happiness.

A child born on this day should have unique talents and ingenuity, with which it may be called upon to vanquish intriguing persons, subtle situations or sinister entangling alliances. It should win in public prestige.

Willful Men

"The German has to be hit with everything we've got. . . I want more supplies than we are getting. . . To get peace we've got to fight hell for it." Thus spoke General Eisenhower. And even as he was speaking, East Coast truckmen were saying that cannon, rifles and bayonets—supplies that the general wants—were being held back from ports of embarkation.

Why the tieup? Because of a truckers' strike in Boston. And why were they striking? Because of a squabble within the union over an election of officers.

Thus a "little group of willful men" can delay victory and cost lives. Incidentally, they can also give responsible labor a black eye. And for that reason, if no other, it would seem appropriate that the Teamsters union, to which the truckers belong, follow the example of the Auto Workers union and at least threaten union discipline of the parties to such costly and, under the circumstances, reprehensible disputes.

The Meaning and Cure of Cataract

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IT IS, of course, perfectly natural for the middle aged or elderly person who finds his vision dimming and finds a cataract is forming on the lens of the eye, to become very depressed. He looks on this as the beginning of the end. He can't even have the fun of sitting in the corner and reading his newspaper or his books to himself, or so he thinks.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

This despair would have been quite appropriate in the middle ages, but not in our modern day. I suppose the department of medicine known as ophthalmology, which deals with disease of the eyes, is the most scientific branch of practice. In the field of cataract it has attained especially brilliant successes.

Birch-Hirschfeld, drawing statistics from the files of several thousand unselected cases in a number of clinics, finds that in treated cataract cases 95 per cent had afterwards vision of 20/60 or better; 75 per cent had vision between 20/20 and 20/40, and 50 per cent had perfect vision of 20/20. So the prospect is by no means as dreary as it may seem at first.

Meaning of Cataract

A cataract is, as the term is most commonly employed by physicians, a blurring, or opacity, of the lens of the eye. Most of them occur in elderly people, although one form occurs in very young children, in fact, can be seen at birth, the congenital cataract. But this is a special type.

What causes the usual type of cataract in the older person is unknown. One cheerful oculist writes that it should be considered no more abnormal than graying hair to which it bears more than a superficial resemblance. Personally, I hope all my senile changes will be confined to my hair, as they have up to now. (Well, nearly all, my old friend Dr. Adrian Gibbs adds.)

The important fact for those in the cataract age to know is that they should not let the condition go on indefinitely. They are apt, as I said above, to be very discouraged when vision begins to dim, and shy about admitting it. Thus they put off visits to a doctor and when a cataract has existed a long time it does further damage to the eye, and vision is irreparably impaired.

The comparison of the eye to the camera is always apt because the eye was the inventor's model for the camera. The retina corresponds to the sensitive plate on which the image is recorded. The lens of the eye is the same as the lens of the camera and that is what becomes opaque in the case of cataract.

Early Treatment Important

If a cataract in a human eye is allowed to go on long enough the retina also degenerates. Just as the films for your camera do: you will notice that a roll of film is labeled to the effect that you must expose it before such and such a date: the comparison holds.

The early symptoms of cataract, the way the patient can recognize it, depends on where the opacity begins. If it begins in the middle of the lens, the vision will rapidly become very bad, which is really a piece of good luck because it sends the patient to a doctor early. Opacity beginning around the edge of the lens brings blurring at the periphery of vision.

Other signs are that glasses suddenly become too weak or too strong. The latter phenomenon is popularly known as second sight and the person is able to discard his glasses and read without them. This may seem like great good luck to him, but it should really indicate a visit to the oculist.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

LARGE C-4 SHIP WILL BE SISTER TO FAST 'C' BOATS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The sleek C-4 ships, backbone of this country's long-range maritime plan, now have a big sister, the existence of the C-4, which dwarfs the C-3, previously the largest of the series, was disclosed today by the Maritime commission, which revealed for the first time some of the details of an even larger ship.

An undisclosed number of the C-4s already have gone into service, commission spokesmen said.

Both the P-2 and the C-4 are regarded as "Pacific ships" because of their high speed and extreme range. The C-4, for example, has an announced range of 10,000 miles.

Basically, the P-2 is a passenger ship, the C-4 a cargo vessel. Both, however, are suitable for troop transports in war-time.

Save only for the $17,500,000 liner America, now the Navy transport ship, the P-2 is the largest merchant-type ship to be built in this country since revival of the shipbuilding program in the pre-war years.

The P-2 has an overall length of 450 feet, 11 inches, a beam of 75 feet and a power plant generating 10,000 horsepower.

The C-4 is 522 feet, 10 1/2 inches long with a beam of 71 feet, 6 inches, and 9,000 horsepower. Its displacement tonnage (carrying capacity) is 14,560 tons, about 2,500 tons greater than the C-3.

Flaming Plane Safe On Carrier

The pictures above, taken by a Navy photographer aboard the U. S. aircraft carrier Cowpens in the Pacific, show moments packed with spectacular drama. Approaching the carrier for a landing, a Grumman Helicat fighter plane bursts into flames unknown to the pilot, Lt. Alfred W. Magee, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa. Emergency squads—firefighters in red caps, first aid men in green caps—scramble to the flight deck as the plane lands like a flaming meteor. Lt. Magee hotfoots it along the wing, dragging his parachute. With skill born of many rehearsals, the firefighting team extinguishes the blaze.

SCIENTISTS CLAIM BLUE, GREEN MOONS REALLY DO OCCUR

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK—Blue moons are not just song writers' dreams; they actually occur. So do green moons.

Both these facts are recorded in a new weather publication, Cloud and Weather Atlas, by Hugh Dunbar Grant, former superintendent of the meteorological service of the Royal Navy and now in the United States in Atlantic air navigation work.

A blue moon was seen at Santa Barbara, Calif., in 1934, eight minutes after sunset. Seen through a veil of magenta-colored cirrocumulus clouds, the moon's face was sky-blue, while the sky about it was spectrum-blue.

Both blue and green moons were seen after the Krakatoa volcano eruption in the Pacific ocean in 1883, which threw up a film of dust that spread throughout the skies of the world for two or three years.

And the sun is occasionally green at sunset, just as the top edge of the sun is about to sink below the horizon. For a very short time this edge glows green when the conditions for refraction of light are right.

Grant also writes of sky signs that may be used to forecast local weather with reasonable accuracy, except near mountains and large bodies of water.

The higher the clouds, the finer the weather.

Red sky at night—fair weather.

Red, lurid sky in the morning—bad weather with probable rain or snow.

Gray sky in the morning—fair weather.

Light, bright blue sky—fair weather.

Pale yellow sunset—rain.

Rain, long forecast, long last.

Short notice, soon past.

Clouds do not burst to form cloudbursts. What happens is strong uprushing currents of air for a time prevent the water from falling; when the up-currents weaken, a great deal of water comes down all at once.

Rain and snow do not ride on the wings of a storm; the drops and flakes are manufactured locally just about where they seem to drop from, and the output of a small cloud is sometimes prodigious.

Hall did remember that he had one of those Strangler Lewis headlocks on Dorsey, that Mrs. Dorsey was pulling his (Hall's) hair, "and that she was screaming and everybody was yelling like they were hopped up." He didn't let go of the trombone maestro, he said, for the simple reason he was backed up against a second floor railing and Tommy had threatened to kill him.

Jon said the fight started suddenly and without warning. In substance, his story was: Dorsey saw him put his arm around Mrs. Dorsey as he begged her indulgence for coming back to look for the purse another guest, Jane Churchill, had forgotten. "What are you doing with my woman?" he quoted Dorsey. "Nothing," Hall said he replied. "Aw, I saw you looking around to find out if I was here," the actor said Dorsey retorted.

Then Wham! Hall said he chided Tommy for "either drinking too much or smoking the wrong kind of cigarettes".

Wham! Next thing Jon got was a sock on the jaw.

Mrs. Churchill, who preceded Hall on the stand, testified it was a bloody affair, but she didn't know anything about knives or bottles. She couldn't remember who hit whom, either.

The next day, you might have thought from a telephone conversation between Hall and the Dorseys, everything was palsy walsy.

The bandleader and the actor commiserated with each other about how unfortunate the whole thing was, said Jon, and both were perplexed about the cause of the fight.

(By Associated Press) EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 1.—Albert B. Fall, 83, secretary of the interior under the Harding administration, died here yesterday.

He was one of the central figures in the Teapot Dome scandal in the 1920s.

Fall had been ill for years. He had been confined here in William Beaumont General hospital from 1935 to 1938, and in Hotel Dieu, Catholic hospital where he died, since 1942.

His physician, Dr. John Morrison, was the only person at his bedside when death came.

Fall was born in Frankfort, Ky. He was prospector, ranch hand, school teacher and attorney at Las Cruces, N. M. He was appointed secretary of the interior by President Harding and executed leases to public oil lands which led to prison and loss of his wealth.

He granted a lease to Harry F. Sinclair on the oil reserve at Teapot Dome, Wyo. "Investigations followed, the lease was invalidated, Fall was termed a "faithless public officer" by Justice Butler of the U. S. Supreme court, and he was convicted in 1929 of accepting a $100,000 bribe for the lease of the Elk Hills, Calif., naval oil reserve to his one-time prospecting partner, Edward L. Doheny. His conviction came six years after he left the cabinet.

GIVE A GIFT TO THAT YANK WHO GAVE

The above is the slogan of the American Legion Auxiliary for its National Campaign to see that every service man and woman in the American Hospitals will receive at least one gift on Christmas.

The Auxiliary has made arrangements with several downtown stores including ours, to receive these packages.

Gifts must be in by Dec. 7th to enable the Auxiliary and its aides to pack and mark them ready to ship by Dec. 10th.

The sending of a gift is a fine opportunity for us, in a limited way, to prove our grateful appreciation to those who have already done so much.

SEA LOSSES OF JAPS RUN HIGH

26,000 Soldiers Drowned,
47 Ships Sunk by U. S.
Convoy Attacks

(By Associated Press)
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEAD-QUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 1.—Japan's disastrous attempts to replenish her Leyte garrisons have cost her 26,000 troops lost at sea in the destruction of seven convoys, the latest one on Thursday with 5,000 men and uncounted supplies aboard.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today low-flying American pilots sank a 9,000-ton transport and three small freighters headed toward the west coast port of Ormoc on Leyte. In addition, a 5,000-ton freighter and a destroyer were left ablaze.

"The transports were heavily loaded with men," Gen. MacArthur said in his communique, "and the enemy's loss of life is estimated at 5,000 men."

It was the second convoy destroyed in two days. On Wednesday, 13 ships were wiped out. MacArthur said 29 transports totaling 103,750 tons and 18 escort ships have been sunk in the seven convoys knocked out.

Fighters, hitting at masthead level, bagged the bulk of the carefully dispersed convoy off Masbate and Cebu but one small freighter was sunk as far west of Leyte as Mindoro island.

Another freighter was sunk off Borneo during continued widespread bomber raids on the Central Philippines and islands to the south, and a bomber scored a hit on what was described only as a "large enemy vessel."

Associated Press Correspondent Dean Schneider, aboard one destroyer, said the American ships made ready to take the survivors aboard but under the glare of searchlights "the Japanese could be seen holding objects that looked too much like grenades and guns for safety."

The Japanese were left splashing in the sea.
Four American escort carriers were acknowledged by the navy as damaged in the historic Philippines sea battle of Oct. 24. They were the Kalamian bay, the Fanshaw bay, the White Plains and the Kilkun bay.

The navy said 1,400 survivors of the St. Lo and Gambier bay escort carriers previously announced as lost, had been rescued.
Tanks cleaning up Peleliu in the Palau islands killed 1,800 Japanese and captured 122 between Oct. 26 and Nov. 26. Adm. Chester Nimitz announced at Pearl Harbor. American losses were 42 killed, 622 wounded and five missing.

Suffers Stroke, Car Rams Second Auto

Charles B. McKenna, 73, of East Liverpool, is in critical condition in the Central Clinic today after suffering a stroke at 5:45 p. m. yesterday as he was driving his car on Route 45, a mile and a half north of Lisbon.
McKenna's auto ran into the side of a machine driven by Daren Whitacre, 22, of Lisbon, damaging both cars slightly. State patrolmen believe McKenna suffered the stroke before the accident and lost control of his car because of it. The hospital said McKenna suffered no injuries from the accident. Whitacre was uninjured.

Set Rites For Woman

EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 1.—Arrangements were made today for funeral services Saturday after an autopsy failed to reveal any evidence of violence in the death of Mrs. Lucy Belle Eckstein, 26, mother of two children and wife of an overseas soldier. She died in an ambulance en route to a hospital.

Yank Flier Strafes Nazi Car — Rommel Inside?

One of the most decisive individual achievements of the entire war is believed to have been accomplished by a U. S. flier who strafed a German staff car along a Normandy road—a car which is believed to have been carrying Field Marshal Erwin Rommel. These pictures tell the story. The flier is Lieut. Harold O. Miller of Santa Rosa, Calif., shown with his wife at left. The incident is shown in the movie film which records the action, shot by Miller's gun camera on his P-47 plane. Miller spotted the German staff car on the road and swooped down, guns blazing. He scored direct hits, the gas tank of the auto exploding as shown by the movie film. Rommel, who was believed to have been in Normandy at the time, later was reported to have suffered injuries in an auto accident. Only recently the Germans announced he died.

Airplanes Spread DDT In Combating Malaria

SAN JUAN, P. R. — A mangrove swamp on this island has become the first Caribbean testing ground for aerial spraying of the insecticide DDT in the U. S. Army's fight on the malaria mosquito.

The swamp, a breeding-place for mosquitoes, was sprayed from heights as low as ten feet by an Army plane. Previously, spray guns had been turned on all Army barracks, messhalls and other buildings. In addition, civilian homes close to Army installations received D. D. T. applications. In every case, the Army reported, the civilian residents welcomed the spraying teams.

3 Firemen Injured In Liverpool Blaze

EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 1.—A fire in a building occupied by the Regent drug store last night resulted in damage estimated by insurance companies at $20,000 and in the hospitalization of three firemen.

Alfred Van Dyne and Richard Weston were overcome by smoke and Clem Dawson received a rib injury in a fall while East Liverpool and Chester, W. Va., fire departments fought the blaze which is believed to have started from a faulty furnace.

Since the majority of pedestrian traffic fatalities occur after dark and December has the fewest hours of daylight of any month in the year, those about must take extra precautions to avoid traffic accidents. A. P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club, warned today.

"The peak hour for fatal accidents is between 8 and 9 p. m. and during the winter months 38 per cent of the traffic deaths occur after the first three hours after sunset," Morris said, in announcing that local schools will be furnished this month with timely posters and teacher lesson units to develop in children sound habits for careful use of street and highways during darkness hours.

"The posters and lesson units are part of the TAKE CARE OF YOURSELF series being issued this year by the Motor club as part of its program to aid teachers here in include safety education as an important part of the school curriculum."

LEAVES FROM A WAR
CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK
by Hal Boyle

AMERICAN FIRST ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 16 (Delayed)—Harold Austin, correspondent of the Sydney, Australia, Morning News, has some interesting views on the American soldier.

Austin, known to his press colleagues as "The Kangaroo," hit the beaches with the first infantry division on D-day and since has covered the advance of the American First Army through France, Belgium and into Germany.

He studied the performance of Yank troops through the eyes of a soldier as well as a newspaperman, having served for four years in this war as an artilleryman with the Australian Imperial force in the Middle East and New Guinea.

I asked him what he thought of Americans in action. Here is his answer:

"I saw American soldiers walking in Piccadilly Circus in London and thought: 'These men are not soldiers.' I didn't admire their appearance or their bearing.

"I landed in Normandy on D-day with them and, within a matter of minutes, changed my opinion completely. Infantrymen advancing in the face of murderous enemy fire were doing all that could be asked.

"So great was the volume of fire that many men must have thought they were going to certain death—but they advanced and kept advancing. That, to my mind, is the essence of the American soldier. He gets the job done.

"I have not yet seen Americans fail to accomplish the task for which they were detailed.

They have terrific pride in their country, absolute faith in their weapons and confidence in themselves. That confidence has brought them through many tight places.

Discipline Is Target

"I must say frankly there are some features about him I don't like. Firstly, his standard of discipline is not particularly high.

"I don't mean he questions orders in the field. But he is an untidy soldier. Sometimes thoughtless in his behavior. Because he is primarily a civilian in outlook, he has not allowed himself to observe fully what we call military courtesy.

"Some men seem to have an impression that display of respect for an officer is an admission of intellectual or social inferiority.

"That attitude does not exist in combat units, where there is particularly healthy relationship between officers and men, but it is noticeable in rear echelon troops.

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. Williams

noticeable in rear echelon troops. In short, the American is not a good parade ground soldier, and he has no apparent desire to be considered one. He prefers to show his individuality to an extent which is not conducive to good discipline.

"As a fighting man the American soldier has a very fine record. I have watched famous battle-tried divisions and "green" divisions in action against the Germans, and I have been most impressed with the courage, endurance and tenacity displayed.

"The American has shown he is more than a match for the Germans. He likes to be told what the action is all about and likes to feel he is something far more important than a small cog in a large machine. When those conditions are satisfied, he attacks with a spirit which eliminates the possibility of defeat from his mind.

"I must reserve my judgment on the American in retreat. In this campaign he has suffered none of the major misfortunes of war, but I feel if he can give it he probably can take it."

More hotel rooms may be available to transient guests. The OPA has authorized more hotel and rooming house operators to petition for removal of a requirement that they continue to offer for weekly or monthly occupancy the same number of rooms on the basis that they did in June, 1942. By this ruling, landlords with as many as 50 per cent of their rooms occupied on a weekly or monthly basis may petition to offer all rooms on a transient basis.

Information from the War department and other sources indicates the Japanese are able to meet Americans on equal terms in every fighting quality except individual initiative. Reporting this, OWI said U. S. troops have killed at least 277,000 Japanese while suffering 21,000 deaths themselves. This is a 13 to 1 ratio.

U. S. Army casualties now total 461,058. The latest list includes casualties reported through Nov. 15, and represents an increase of 58,984 over the total reported for the period through Oct. 14.

Quick-Freezing 'Keeps'
Germs In Laboratory

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Dr. Malcolm Soule, head of the University of Michigan hygiene laboratory, said today that experiments had proven that quick-freezing methods, such as are used with foods, would keep certain types of germs fresh and potent for long periods of time.

Dr. Soule said that he made the tests after reading of quick-frozen foods, and that he had kept four kinds of germs alive and potent for two years. He explained that this would result in great savings for laboratories, which heretofore have kept germs by successive injections in animals.

DOMINIC ZITTO

LISBON, Dec. 1.—Dominic Zitto, 40, motion picture operator, died at 3 p. m. yesterday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zitto, E. Washington st., of asthma and pneumonia.

Born Dec. 8, 1904, in Italy, he came here with his parents when he was seven years old.

He also leaves three brothers, Tony of Lisbon, Paul and James of Newton Falls; one sister, Mrs. Rose Albano of New Galilee, Pa., and two nephews.

Funeral service will be held at 9 a. m. Monday in St. George's Catholic church. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Increased Tire Quota Doesn't Help Civilian

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Passenger tire quotas total 2,900,000 this month for the first time but "A" card motorists may not get new tires until spring.

OPA indicated this last night in announcing some passenger tire facilities may be diverted to producing jeep tires.

"Production increases anticipated for passenger tires may not be realized for some time," OPA said. Further reductions may be made in civilian quotas of heavy truck and bus tires, it added.

OHIO REPUBLICANS ELECT WHITEMORE

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Dec. 1.—Republicans in the Ohio state senate will be led by Sen. Frank E. Whittemore of Akron for the sixth time when the 96th general assembly convenes here Jan. 1.

Whittemore, starting his ninth term as a member of the senate, was elected yesterday as president pro tem and majority leader for the fourth straight time. He previously held those offices in the 1919-20 and 1921-22 legislative sessions.

Republican members of the senate also re-elected Thomas E. Bate-man of Columbus as clerk and Cliff Martin of Cincinnati as sergeant-at-arms. They have held those positions through the last three sessions of the general assembly.

Sen. Lawrence Kane of Cincinnati was named chairman of the committee on committees and Sen. David Liggett of Belle Center was elected head of the patronage committee.

Elected to serve with Kane on the committee on committees were Whittemore, Albert L. Daniels of Greenfield, Fred R. Seibert of St. Marys, Tom Jones of Middleport and Fred Adams of Bowling Green.

Other members of the patronage committee will be Fred G. Reimers of Cincinnati, Evert E. Addison of Columbus, Virgil Cramer of Toledo and Theodore Gray of Troy.

Senate Democrats will hold their organizational caucus at 3 p. m. Monday and house Republicans will meet Dec. 12.

Fired From Office After Action In Phone Strike

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 1.—Mrs. Marion Stitzel, secretary-treasurer of Local 107 of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers here, has been suspended from office and union membership for her part in attempting to block a telephone strike here last month.

Mrs. Stitzel was ousted by President Robert G. Pollock at the first of two stormy sessions held by telephone operators yesterday with Mrs. Lena Eisenhart of Akron, president of the northern Ohio traffic council in charge.

The ouster says Mrs. Stitzel was removed for crossing picket lines, for working in a strike bond building, for subversive activities and for taking civil action without referring the matter to union officials.

She is to appear before the union in Cleveland Jan. 23 for a hearing.

ping up of artillery bombardment. He is using far more shells than was contemplated before the Allies came up against the Siegfried line. This consumption of ammunition will continue on the same vast scale day and night until a hole has been blasted in the German defenses.

That's why Secretary Stimson has appealed for increased production of heavy shells. They suddenly have assumed a new importance in Allied operations. The big guns are lords of all they survey these days.

There's another important point in this connection. The Germans are defending the Cologne plain so fiercely because it shields the great Ruhr industrial zone just across the Rhine. The Ruhr is the heart of Hitler's military effort. Once the Allies have broken through the Nazi outer defenses and have reached the Rhine they will be able to reach the Ruhr with those same big guns and finish devastating it.

600 On Strike At Youngstown Plant

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 1.—Production of guns, mortars and shells for the Army and Navy was halted today by a walkout of approximately 600 workers at the United Engineering and Foundry Co.

Union officials say the strike has been called for four reasons:

1—The company has refused a wage differential of seven cents an hour for second and third shifts after at first agreeing to such differential.

2—The company has refused to include a contract provision for re-establishment of the wage policy in existence prior to the issuance of executive order 9240 after that order is no longer effective. United employees received double time for Sundays and holidays before issuance of the order.

3—The company agrees to minimum wage rates prevailing at the New Castle, Pa., plant, but refuses to make adjustments for men in the new rate above the minimum.

4—The company has refused equal distribution of overtime.

Company officials could not be reached for comment.

ROUND-THE-CLOCK BOMBING RAIDS ON TOKYO ARE HINTED

(By Associated Press)

The future possibility of round-the-clock air assaults on Tokyo was implied by pilots of Superfortresses who reported on their return to Saipan after the first experimental night raid that:

The big bombers ranged over Japan's metropolis for at least three hours.

Precision instruments enabled the raiders to hit war industries despite obscuring clouds.

Anti-aircraft fire was light. The raid Thursday night (Tokyo time) was almost equal in success to either of the two previous daylight assaults although the raiding force was much smaller.

Tokyo's radio, which has blared heated threats at Yank pilots, meanwhile kept the subject of the raids uppermost in its broadcasts.

Regarding the experimental attack, Lt. Jack Setzerich, of Chattanooga, Fla., said it was almost as successful as a daylight blow and had in its favor the return of the big bombers by daylight to their Saipan bases 1,500 miles from Tokyo.

Those bases, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed in a communique last night at Pearl Harbor, were attacked before dawn Tuesday by Japanese planes and a few bombs were dropped. Nimitz said they caused no damage and that one raider was downed. A second possibly was bagged.

In an Italian language broadcast intercepted by Federal Communications committee, Tokyo said a result of the Thursday Superfortress raid "consisted of no more than two dead and six wounded."

Palestine Man Prisoner

EAST PALESTINE, Dec. 1.—Previously reported missing Sept. 24 while with a British air-borne division in Holland, Pvt. Paul Benton, 20, of East Palestine, is a prisoner in Germany, the International Red Cross has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Benton.

Confirm Battle Injury

Pfc. Donald E. Felger of Columbiana, wounded in action while fighting in the European area, was among those Ohioans whose injuries were confirmed in War department casualty lists today.

Pfc. Felger is the son of Mrs. Hazel G. Raynes of Columbiana.

The Marine Corps was formed by the Continental Congress on Nov. 10, 1775, and made a permanent organization in 1798.

The real-life adventures of a society girl who goes to work in a war plant.

FACTORY

Lunch hour, 11 to 11:30, is a pleasant interlude. At lunch hour, most all of Kerry Kraft picks up its paper bags or lunch boxes and goes outdoors. In front of the plant you can sit on the curbstone that separates street from "lawn"; in back you can go across the field past "Receiving"—a separate building—and sit on empty packing crates. There's a 50-yard strip of field and then the fence. Behind the fence there are woods, and Eunice, Gert and I have staked out our claim to a certain packing case just in the edge of the trees' shade.

There are a number of small unchanging lunch groups all around us—mostly men, a few mixed company, and perhaps a dozen clumps of girls. On hot days the men take off their shirts and lie in the sun, the girls pull their slacks up over their knees, which causes a good deal of dutiful whistling and shouting of wisecracks.

Gert, Jennie and I dress unglamorously in cotton blouses and blue slacks; so do a good many others, but the majority agree with Babs that a girl wants to look nice, so they wear alarming "pajama suits," bright yellow, pale pink, gorgeously flowered. All the girls wear makeup and keep it constantly touched up and I discovered recently that Gert has been quite troubled about me because I didn't renew my lipstick with sufficient frequency. "That's the first thing I noticed about you, Annie," she told me, in a talk as intimate as a Lifebuoy ad; she had figured that up where I came from maybe girls let themselves go like that, but just the same, it made her a little uncomfortable. I agreed to reform. "When in Rome," I said unthinkingly. "Rome," said Gert. "Where's that at?"

"Hi." "How's things?" "How ya doin'?" These are the forms of greeting. "So long." "Bye seein' ya." and "Well, take it easy," the words of parting. To catch the attention of anyone at a distance you yell, "Hey!" or "Hi," but "Yo." "Yo, Bill!" "Yo, Annie!" "Yo, youse guys!"

Everyone except the topmost of the Bosses and the from-another-world Big Shots is called by his or her first name. Females are usually "girls," sometimes "ladies," never "women." What Babs didn't like about working at the Paper Mill was that on the door of the Ladies' Room it said "Women." The word has some derogatory implication. When I asked, "Who is that woman?" Nell corrected me, "That there lady?"

Eunice works across the aisle, in Bench. "Tap-tap, tap-tap, tap-tap" goes her hammer. She is amazingly quick, far defter than I would be. They make metal objects, half an oval in shape and perhaps 16 inches long, which are "nose-ribs." The nose-ribs, when finished, have to be stamped with a small die which is hit with a hammer. Eunice, for them—for some reason she likes to do it. Since she is probably five times as fast as I am, I get her to do my inspection stamping and in return I do her filing, because it makes her "blood go goose-pimples."

Everyone eats more or less perpetually; sandwiches (always one at the "five-minutes"), pretzels, candy bars. Everything is passed around to one's immediate neighbors, and it is difficult to refuse without giving offense. Almost everyone chews gum steadily; brilliant posters in the cafeteria tell us that gum steadies our nerves and helps the war effort. Perhaps so with some, with me it decidedly hinders any effort of doing. I try in vain to copy the calm rhythm of my fellows, but gum-chewing is for me, an occupation to which one gives heart and soul and body, all one's faculties and all one's energies. So, at risk of offending, I generally refuse.

Quakers Facing Tough Pair Of Tests In First Week's Play

Entertain Ravenna On Home Floor Tuesday, Then Travel To Columbiana On Friday

Salem High's Quakers face a full and dangerous week in their first two 1944-45 season encounters—Tuesday against the always-difficult Ravenna Ravens and Friday at Columbiana, where an experienced victory-seeking Clipper group awaits them.

Coach Robert Miller, beginning his first season here, has no illusions about the task facing his team next week. Although Salem has six returning veterans, Miller is well versed in the powers of the Ravens and knows from first-hand experience the potency of the Columbiana Clippers.

Last year, when Miller was coaching the East Palestine Bulldogs, the Clippers polished his squad off twice, once 53-36 and later 55-43. Of that group of basketballers, all but Bill Dickinson are back.

Ravenna, winner over Salem for three straight seasons in opening games, will be here Tuesday determined to continue on the top end of a rivalry that has seen some of the most exciting games of several seasons decided by a few points.

Coached once again by Harry Gilcrest, a master and firm believer in the highly touted zone defense, the Ravenna team will be manned by at least three veterans from the 1943-44 squad that defeated Salem 29-25 last year.

As a test for his Quaker group, Miller had them workout against a Freshman aggregation from Kent State University Wednesday afternoon. The test proved hardly a good workout, as the locals ran wild over the older lads in one quarter and by the time the game was over 25 Salem players, varsity and reserve teams, had been in.

Outstanding in the one quarter the varsity played Wednesday was Walter Brian, six foot two, inch pivot man from the 1943-44 squad. Brian, by far the most polished player on the team last year, has mastered a one handed push shot from all angles of the floor. The rangy center netted somewhere near 24 points in less than eight minutes of play.

Another promising veteran is Mutt Schaeffer, taller than he was last year by at least two inches. The lanky Senior lad is an excellent ball handler, adept on set shots and accurate in his short push up shots also.

Ray Kelly, a newcomer to the varsity, displayed that old "ball hawk" ability Wednesday as he consistently broke up Kent passwork and set up plays that led to sure baskets. Kelly, still weak on shooting, is one of the best floor-men available to Miller this season.

Norm Smith, dead on his long set shots, is still unable to get around as well as he will have to in actual competition. However, exercise is bringing his previously-broken leg into shape and he should be of full use to the squad soon.

Francis Lannay, a starter last season, hasn't gotten in his full share of practice as yet, but will undoubtedly be slated for plenty of action when his shooting and ball handling are brushed up a bit. Lannay was out of the first week's practicing with a severe cold and a bad leg, a result of his football playing.

Bill Stoudt, another letterman and regular from 1943-44, started in the first quintet fielded by Miller. He showed an improved brand of ball-handling and a more sure shooting power.

Little Jim Appendison, who hardly fits the "little" title any longer, is assigned to the major part of the ball handling in back court in Miller's system, and probably won't figure in point-getting so much this season. However, Appendison, scrappy on defense and nearly as fast as he was last season, will be an important cog in what looks like a potent offense.

Miller has narrowed his squad to about 25 men and figures on announcing his final pre-season choices within the next day or so. The squad will practice at the Memorial building again today, as they did yesterday, because of the High school dance decorations in their own gym.

BALTIMORE PACKED BY BIG GAME CROWD

Mobs Jamming Hotels and Restaurants As Hour of Service Fray Nears

By FRITZ HOWELL

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1.—This Maryland metropolis' hotels and restaurants bulged at the seams today as the vanguard of an expected crowd of 70,000 rolled in for football's most colorful clash—Saturday's Army-Navy game at Municipal stadium.

West Point's rampaging Cadets, winners of eight in a row and rolling along at a point-a-minute clip toward the National championship and their first unbeaten season, were favored at two to one, or by a 14-point margin.

But Navy, triumphant the last five years—and with Halfback Bob Jenkins set to go again after a foot infection—was cool, calm and confident it could make it six straight over the Cadets.

Tested talent will bedeck each roster as the 2 p. m. kickoff comes up. Of the players participating in last year's contest, 48 are still on hand. Each team has 24 veterans. Navy won a year ago, 13-0, after being on the short end of the odds.

Sold War Bonds

Just how many bonds have been sold to ticket-seekers since the game was shifted from Annapolis to Baltimore is unknown. Although the game was announced as a sellout a few hours after the site shift, ducks appeared fairly plentiful from scalpers at from $20 to $40 each.

Clear and near-freezing weather was forecast.

Hotels have reservations for at least 15 high-ranking generals and naval officers, including Gen. George Marshall, chief of staff, and Gen. H. H. Arnold, head of the Army Air forces.

No president has appeared at an Army-Navy contest since Calvin Coolidge watched big Ed Garbisch, Army's center and captain, boot four field goals here just 20 years ago.

Western Union officials estimated more than a quarter million words will move from Baltimore by sports writers. The Army and Navy departments reported the largest shortwave coverage of any sports event in history had been arranged for the fray.

SPORT CHATTER

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—George (Greensboro) Corcoran asks how about gathering a group of physically handicapped golfers, fellows who have lost arms or legs but who still can play a good game of golf, to tour convalescent hospitals giving exhibitions for wounded GI's.

part of the U. S. G. A. war program is devoted to rehabilitation of the wounded and providing golf courses at hospitals. . . . such men as Tommy McAniff and Jimmy Nichols could give those boys a great lift by proving to them that a guy with one arm or leg can play better golf than a lot of folks equipped with the usual number.

SONG FOR PIGSKIN PICKERS

The mule is an animal with long funny ears. He's the mascot that draws the army's cheers. The mule he gallops from the army T.

And scores those touchdowns very easily. So the army will have to get the vote. Or would you rather pick the goat?

The goat is an animal with a head like a rock. Which shows how the navy team can sock. He scores lots of points from the single wing.

And when he hits they hear the birdies sing. So you'll have to choose the navy school. Or would you rather take the mule?

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Confidence note: Earl Blaik, Army's head coach, has been promoted to a full colonelcy and Backfield Coach Anny Gustafson now is a Lt. Col. . . . Ohio State's Les Horvath played 40 1/2 out of a possible 540 minutes this season. And he turned down a Cleveland Rams offer to return to the Buckeyes next year. . . . Hockey clubs are having so much trouble with broken sticks this year—they say it's unseasoned wood—that the Rangers had to lend seven to the Rangers so the big leaguers could make their current road trip.

POSTWAR PLAN IN SHAPE FOR MAJOR LEAGUE MEETINGS

Plan Relaxes Squad Limit To Allow for Returning Armed Service Men

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—A postwar "reconversion" program, relaxing the squad limits to absorb baseball players returning from the armed forces, will get attention from baseball's major leagues at a joint meeting in New York Dec. 13.

A recommendation by the steering committee of both leagues calls for increases in both mid-season and reserve player lists of five and 10 re-instated players, respectively. The limits now are 25 and 40 per squad, with no concession for players re-instated from the national defense list which number about 500.

The proposal was disclosed yesterday by Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary-treasurer of the baseball commissioner's office, who said the ranking item of business will be consideration of the major league agreement and "all other matters" arising from the recent death of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Ruling Drafted

Although the joint committee which met here two weeks ago drafted the proposal for increased player limits, the only announcement made then was that the group had recommended the re-election of Landis and extension of the major league agreement which perpetuates the commissioner's office. Landis died a week later.

It generally is expected that his office will not be filled immediately and that a three-man board of O'Connor and Presidents Will Harridge and Ford Frick of the Amer-

Goshen High Faces Two Tilts This Week

Facing a two-game weekend, Goshen High's cagers will meet the Lisbon Blue Devils on their home floor tonight and then will take on the Augusta High quintet tomorrow night in another home fray.

Goshen's outfit, beaten by Greenford and Beloit in two encounters, figures to meet stiff competition in the Lisbon battle. The Blue Devils tutored this season by Robert Rutter, have five lettermen back from the 1943-44 season.

lean and National leagues, respectively, will be designated to govern baseball indefinitely.

The player limits recommendation proposes that the 25-player restriction now effective from one month after the first game until Sept. 1 may be increased to 30, providing that the five additional men are re-instated national defense players. The same is true for the 10 extra players who may be added to the 40-player limit in effect between Sept. 1 and mid-May.

ROBERTSON TAKES ARMY BY A BREEZE

Thinks Cadets Will Win By One or Two Touchdowns With Little Fuss

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Here's the final fling at trying to pick football winners and it's done chiefly because we want to let you know how we stand on Army-Navy:

Army-Navy—The Cadets are supposed to have the backs and the Middles the line but Army's forward wall is no weakling (somebody had to open the holes and clear the way for all those touchdowns this season). Even if Navy's Bob Jenkins is at his best well string along with Army and will not be surprised if it wins by two or three touchdowns.

Great Lakes-Notre Dame—The Irish have lost their quota for the year (Army and Navy). The Sailors have bowed only to Ohio State Notre Dame in a close call.

Georgia Tech-Georgia—Two tate (Notre Dame and Duke) all Tech is going to carry into Orange bowl. Georgia Tech.

Texas Christian-Southern Methodist—Texas Christian, Southern Conference champs, also is leaning for a bowl (Cotton). This one is sure to be fairly easy for the Horned Frogs.

Among Moors, if a wife does become mother of a boy, she must be divorced with the consent of the tribe and can remarry again.
